

Name: _____

Date: _____

Period: _____

cisco chapter 4 crossword

Across

1. What is a SMF?
4. what can distort and corrupt the data signals being carried by copper media
10. What is a UTP?
14. a disturbance caused by the electric or magnetic fields of a signal on one wire to the signal in an adjacent wire.
21. The signals are patterns of electrical pulses.
23. what is it called when fiber-optic media are not precisely aligned to one another when joined.
24. Have to have a password to get in
25. what is a MMF
26. Used by service providers to connect countries and cities.
27. what is a cable used to interconnect similar devices

Down

2. The signals are patterns of microwave transmissions.
3. what is used for backbone cabling applications and interconnecting infrastructure devices.
5. what is it when The media ends are not well polished, or dirt is present at the termination.
6. what is it when When two wires in an electrical circuit are placed close together, their magnetic fields are the exact opposite of each other
7. what is the most common networking cable
8. What is a MAC
9. Cable service providers provide Internet connectivity to their customers by replacing portions of the coaxial cable and supporting amplification elements with fiber-optic cable
11. What is LLC?

12. Used to provide reliable high-speed, high-capacity solutions capable of surviving in harsh undersea environments up to transoceanic distances
13. A Cisco proprietary cable used to connect a workstation to a router or switch console port.
15. Coaxial cables attach antennas to wireless devices.
16. what is it when the media does not completely touch at the splice or connection.
17. Wireless data communication technologies work well in open environments
18. what does FTTH stand for
19. what is a STP?
20. The signals are patterns of light.
22. When a wireless communication gets uninterrupted