

Developmental Psychology

Across

2. disorder that results in a deficit of communication and social interaction

6. psychologist that studied dependency by experimenting with monkeys

9. type of intelligence consisting of one's accumulated knowledge and verbal skills

11. psychologist best known for theorizing the 8 psychosocial stages of development

12. type of intelligence consisting of one's ability to reason speedily and abstractly

13. the developing human organism from 9 weeks after conception to birth

14. a baby's tendency to open mouth and search for food when touched on the cheek

15. interpreting one's new experience in terms of one's existing schema

Down

1. what FAS stands for

3. harmful agents that can cause damage to a fetus

4. psychologist that came up with the 6 stages of moral thinking

5. the ideal parenting style

7. a sense that the world is predictable and trustworthy, according to Erikson

8. neurodegenerative disease that causes the patient to lose their memory and become mentally vacant

10. psychologist that is best known for theorizing the stages of cognitive development