

1.1 The study of Children

Across

2. Developmental process that refers to the ability to know right from wrong

5. An act of recognizing and recording behavior

13. Austrian psychiatrist whose theory states that a person's early emotional experiences affect adult life profoundly

14. A developmental process that refers to the growth of the brain and the use of mental skills

16. The first to study children in a scientific way; he said that children go through four stages of thinking and should be given learning tasks suitable for each stage

17. A scientifically acceptable followed as the basis of action

18. A child old enough to attend school. Ages 5-12

19. A school providing children freedom within limits by a rather structured approach, and a fixed method in which materials are presented

20. Italian educator whose theory states children learn best through their senses pursuing their own interests at their own rate

Down

1. A developmental process that refers to the way people relate to others around them

3. A series of stages a person passes through during his or her lifetime

4. The study of how children grow and change physically, intellectually, emotionally, socially and morally

6. A person's surroundings and everything in them, including both human and non-human factors

7. Period of childhood from three to five years of age

8. Period of childhood from one to three years of age

9. Development process that refers to the ability to experience, express, and control emotions

10. The sum of all the qualities a person inherits from his or her parents at birth

11. Period of great growth and change between childhood and adulthood

12. Period of childhood from birth up to one year

15. A developmental process that refers to the physical growth of a person's body