Across
4. Theory maintaining that people learn new attitudes, beliefs, and behaviors through social interaction (especially during childhood)
6. Learning how to perform a role that a person will occupy
7. Settings where people are isolated from the rest of society, stripping of their former identities, and rebuild to conform to new rules and behaviors
8. The lifelong process through which people learn culture and become functioning members of society
10. People who are similar in age, social status, and interests
12. Groups of people who shape an individual’s self-image, behavior, values, and attitudes in different contexts
14. The individuals, groups, or institutions that teach us how to participate effectively in society
15. The norms, values, and expectations of society as a whole that affect a person’s behavior
16. The process of providing information and cues to others to present oneself in a favorable light, while downplaying or concealing one’s less appealing characteristics

Down
1. Homes in which three or more generations live together
2. A self-image based on how we think others see us
3. Someone whose opinion we value and who influences our thinking, especially about ourselves
5. The process of learning cultural behaviors and expectations so deeply that we accept them without question
9. Learning to take the perspective of others
11. The process of unlearning old ways of doing things and adopting new attitudes, values, norms, and behaviors
13. People who we admire and whose behavior we imitate