

Name: _____

Date: _____

Unit 8: Firearms, Toolmarks, and Impressions

Across

2. Usually holds 6 bullets and must be reloaded by hand and does not eject a spent shell

5. This is the forensic database maintained by the NIBIN

11. This is also called a clip

13. Distance from the center line of a vehicles right tire to the centerline of its left tire

14. lead pellets in a shotgun

15. size of a shotgun is described by this, which is related to the weight of the lead pellets

16. Individual characteristics created when the firing pin strikes the primer case

17. Along with the extractor, works to remove the shell casing from the gun after bullet has been released.

19. Bullet size expressed in inches

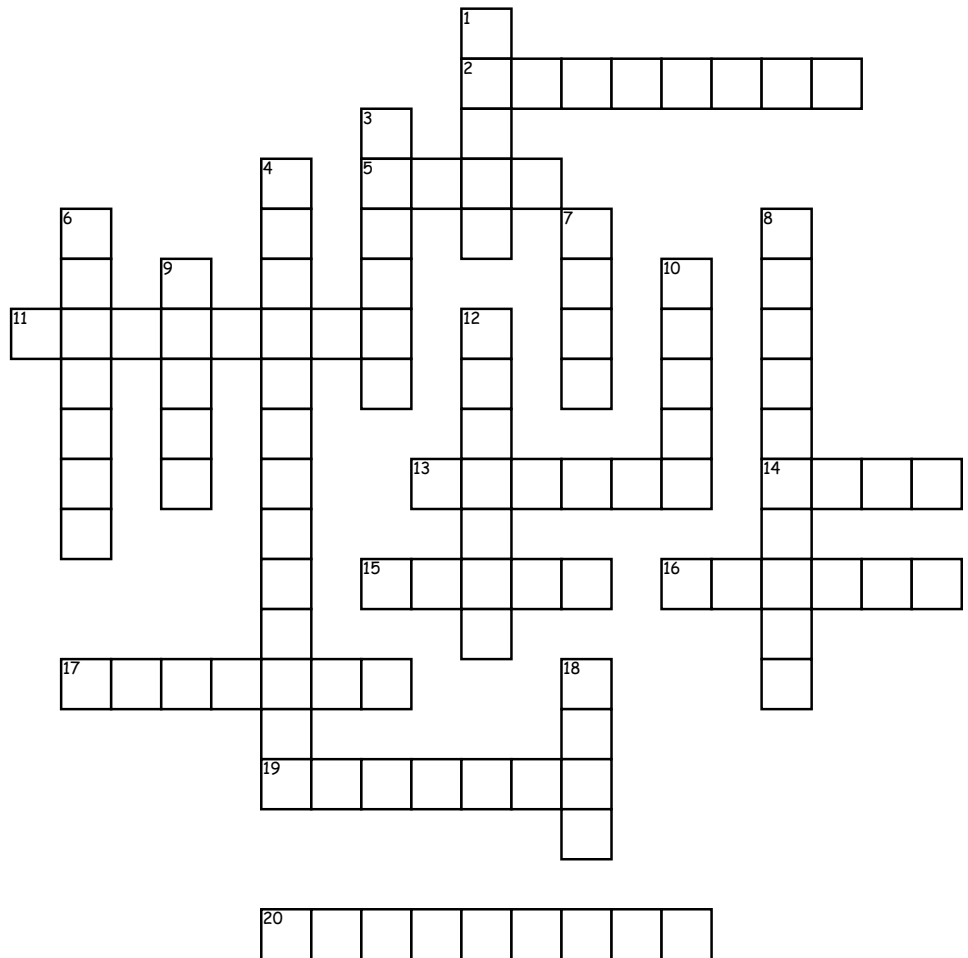

20. Distance from the center of a vehicles front wheel hub to the center of its rear wheel

Down

1. basic unit of weight in the British system

3. If done to guns, it creates a spiral pattern inside the barrel

4. This type of handgun shoots one cartridge each time the trigger is pulled, ejects the empty cartridge case, and reloads automatically

6. Part of a firearm that contains a cartridge for firing

7. one pellet

8. This tests for the presence of nitrite in gun powder residue

9. This along with grooves are created because of rifling in barrels

10. These have a longer barrel than a handgun and has device to minimize kickback

12. These are usually used to shoot a packet of shot or spherical pellets. The inside of the barrel is not rifled.

18. inside diameter of the firearm's barrel

