

Chapter 7-8 Crossword Puzzle

Across

2. Any device that sends and receives information on the network.
 4. A collection of workstations and servers on a LAN that are designed to communicate and exchange data with one another.
 6. Regenerates weak signals as its primary purpose
 7. AP
 11. Receives data on one port and then sends it out to all other ports.
 13. Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol
 16. EMI

17. An always-on service that uses radio signals for transmitting Internet access

18. MAN

19. Protects data and equipment on a network from unauthorized access.

20. IP

Down

1. NIC

3. DSL

5. A technology that is used to transmit and receive multiple signals using different frequencies over one cable.

8. Copper cabling used for telephone communications and most Ethernet networks.

9. A group of computers and electronic devices with a common set of rules and procedures administered as a unit.

10. A set of rules governing communication between computers on a network

12. A private network that connects remote sites or users together over a public network.

14. Connects multiple networks that are in geographically separated locations.

15. Systems that are formed by links.