

Name: _____

Date: _____

Sociology Crossword

Across

2. A group consisting of intimate, face-to-face interaction and relatively long-lasting relationships.
5. Contradictory role expectations (involves two or more roles).
6. Totality of a person's social positions.
8. The study of the development, structure, and functioning of human society.
10. How one defines oneself. Is both personal and social. Is often bestowed by others as well as one's self.

13. An inborn status; usually difficult or impossible to change.

14. Group that are larger in membership, less intimate, and less long-lasting. What we could consider our sociology class as this.

15. This status shapes a person's life and determines a person's social identity.

Down

1. Sum total of behaviors, attitudes, beliefs, and values that are characteristics of an individual.

3. History, Economics, Political Science, Cultural Anthropology are all examples of this division of Science.

4. Is the dimension of the self that represents the standards of society.

7. An approach pioneered by Erving Goffman in which social life is analyzed in terms of its similarities to theatrical performance.

9. The ability of the individual to act freely and independently.

11. A group of exactly two people.

12. A specific set of expected behaviors associated with a status.