

Name: _____

Date: _____

The Integumentary System

Across

3. Scar tissue
7. Very fine and non-pigmented hair
9. These respond to light, touch, pressure and pain
10. middle layer of the skin
13. most superficial layer of the skin
16. An example of this type of communication is blushing

Down

1. The thickening at the end of a hair follicle
2. White crescent found on your fingernail bed
4. This is the use of a black light to view pigment changes in the skin
5. What happens once the keratinocyte's have completely filled with keratin and died

6. This results from an over production of melanin
8. Thick, coarse and very pigmented hair
11. This is an infestation of mites
12. Produce skin pigments called melanin
14. The part of the hair follicle that extends out from the skin
15. Inflammation of the sebaceous gland ducts