

Name: _____

Date: _____

OT Adaptive Equipment

Across

1. a bar attached horizontally or vertically to a wall to provide a handgrip for stability and support
8. Adaptive device with trigger that allows patient with limited mobility to extend their reach
10. a stick used as a walking aid for stability used to increase independence in functional mobility
11. a hook for catching a button and drawing it through a buttonhole to increase independence in dressing tasks.

12. A rigid device used to stabilize a joint, reduce pain or prevent contractures and makes self-care tasks safer for the patient
13. Helps a patient independently put on her or her socks
14. Safe comfortable seating used in shower to prevent falls or standing for extended periods of time

Down

2. An adaptive device used to wash parts of the body that are hard to reach due to limited range of motion
3. A smooth curved implement, often of plastic or metal, inserted at the heel to help put on a shoe.

4. An adaptive device designed to permit independent dressing by a person with limited range of motion
5. an adaptive device worn on the hand to hold items such as utensils or toothbrush allowing a patient with a weak grasp to participate more in self-care.
6. Something that makes a wheelchair more comfortable and can decrease incidence of prevent pressure ulcers
7. A chair mounted on large wheels, used primarily by people who cannot walk or have difficulty walking.
9. A four-legged frame device used to support someone when walking.