

Data Communication Worksheet [BSS]

Across

3. This type of network is not limited to a geographical area, can span national and international boundaries.

6. A set of computers connected together for the purpose of sharing resources.

8. This is a protocol which governs the transmission of voice over the internet.

9. This topology makes use of the term token passing

10. Wireless transmission media used for telephones, cell phones, televisions, pagers, citizens band radios, Wi-Fi Ethernet, and Bluetooth.

11. The number of components involved in data communication

12. A set of rules governing the transfer of files over the internet

Down

1. Used to connect peripheral devices to a computer.

2. Requires a line-of-sight transmission

4. A group of people with common interest who communicate by posting messages and replies on the internet

5. A wired transmission media that is susceptible to interference.

7. A network topology that requires a Hub/Switch