Ethics & Legal Terms

Across

2. A threat or attempt to inflict offensive physical contact or bodily harm on a person (as by lifting a fist in a threatening manner) that puts the person in immediate danger of or in apprehension of such harm or contact.

4. An area of commercial law dealing with a set of contractual, quasi-contractual and non-contractual fiduciary relationships that involve a person, called the agent, that is authorized to act on behalf of another (called the principal) to create legal relations with a third party.

6. Responsible by law; legally answerable.

8. An agreement by a patient to allow disclosure of private health information (such as surgery) after having been told about the risks, benefits, and consequences of the procedure.

10. An intentional tort; the intentional unjustified, nonconsensual detention or confinement of a person within fixed boundaries for any length of time. Restraint may be physical, chemical, or emotional.

12. The branch of law that deals with the application of medical knowledge to the practice of medicine.

14. Concerning or relating to what is right and wrong in human behavior.

16. The act of saying false things in order to make people have a bad opinion of someone or something.

18. An area of moral principles that apply values and judgments to the practice of medicine.

20. An intentional tort; the intentional unjustified, nonconsensual detention or confinement of a person within fixed boundaries for any length of time. Restraint may be physical, chemical, or emotional.

22. The failure to do something that a reasonable person of ordinary prudence would do in a certain situation or the doing of something that such a person would not do.

Down

1. An intentional tort; the intentional unjustified, nonconsensual detention or confinement of a person within fixed boundaries for any length of time. Restraint may be physical, chemical, or emotional.

2. A threat or attempt to inflict offensive physical contact or bodily harm on a person (as by lifting a fist in a threatening manner) that puts the person in immediate danger of or in apprehension of such harm or contact.

3. A false accusation written, printed, or typewritten, or presented in a picture or a sign that is made with malicious intent to defame the reputation of a person who is living or the memory of a person who is dead, resulting in public embarrassment, contempt, ridicule, or hatred.

5. A clear and voluntary indication of preference or choice, usually oral or written, and freely given in circumstances where the available options and their consequences have been made clear (informed consent).

7. A false accusation written, printed, or typewritten, or presented in a picture or a sign that is made with malicious intent to defame the reputation of a person who is living or the memory of a person who is dead, resulting in public embarrassment, contempt, ridicule, or hatred.

9. Legal doctrine related to the guilt of someone who aids or abets in the commission of a crime.

11. An agreement by a patient to allow disclosure of private health information in cases in which the patient has been informed about the information to be disclosed, the purpose of the disclosure, and his or her right to object to the disclosure, but has not done so.