

Name: _____

Date: _____

The Nervous System

Across

4. A head injury that occurs from a banging movement of the brain against the skull

5. a type of mental illness that causes a person to have mood swings and changes in energy levels and the ability to function

7. A condition which a person comes restless and agitated in the late afternoon or night

11. Encouraged people with Alzheimer's disease to remember and talk about the past

12. the loss of function of the legs, trunk, and arms

14. Mental disorder that causes a person to have mood swings and changes in energy levels

16. A disorder that disrupts a persons ability to function at a normal level

17. Group therapy that promotes self-esteem, and socialization for the people with Alzheimer's disease

Down

1. A progressive disease that destroys memory and other important mental functions.

2. a method of treating mental illness that involves talking about one's problems with mental health professionals

3. a form of mental illness that may involve acute episodes; affects a person's ability to think, communicate, make decisions

6. A disorder that causes recurring seizures

8. a progressive disease that causes a portion of the brain to degenerate; causes rigid muscles, shuffling gait, pill-rolling, mask-like face

9. a way to improve or change an action or development

10. the basic nerve cell of the nervous system

13. a serious, progressive loss of mental abilities such as thinking, remembering, reasoning, and communicating

15. taking things that belong to someone else

Word Bank

Schizophrenia

Quadriplegia

Psychotherapy

Bipolar Disorder

Sundowning

Reminiscence Therapy

Epilepsy

Mental Illness

Intervention

Neuron

Bipolar Disorder

Alzheimer's Disease

Dementia

Parkinson's Disease

Pillaging

Remotivation Therapy

Concussion